- Net loss of $40 million, driven by a $39 million reduction in unrealized MSR fair value due to lower interest rates

West Palm Beach, FL – (May 4, 2023) – Ocwen Financial Corporation (NYSE: OCN) (“Ocwen” or the “Company”), a leading non-bank mortgage servicer and originator, today announced its first quarter 2023 results and provided a business update.

The Company reported GAAP net loss of $40 million for the first quarter, an improvement of $40 million compared to the fourth quarter of 2022. The net loss was primarily driven by unrealized MSR fair value changes due to market interest rates. The Company also reported an adjusted pre-tax income of $6 million, an improvement of $2 million compared to the fourth quarter of 2022 (see “Note Regarding Non-GAAP Financial Measures” below). First quarter results reflect lower interest rates and origination volumes compared to the fourth quarter.

Glen A. Messina, Chair, President and CEO of Ocwen, said, “We produced solid results in the first quarter, driven by our balanced and diversified business, cost management actions and strong performance in our servicing segment. We have improved profitability for three consecutive quarters on an adjusted pre-tax basis, and net income has significantly improved from the previous quarter. Our servicing segment continues to be the key driver of earnings, and we are growing our servicing portfolio with a focus on capital-light subservicing and higher margin originations products. We have increased our MSR hedge coverage and are prudently managing capital and liquidity to address market risks and opportunities.”

Messina commented, “As we continue to execute our business strategy, we believe we are well-positioned to navigate the market environment ahead and deliver long-term value for our shareholders. Overall, I am proud of how our team is executing and excited about the potential for our business.”

Note Regarding Non-GAAP Financial Measures

This press release contains references to non-GAAP financial measures, such as our references to adjusted pre-tax income (loss) and adjusted expenses.

We believe these non-GAAP financial measures provide a useful supplement to discussions and analysis of our financial condition, because they are measures that management uses to assess the financial performance of our operations and allocate resources. In addition, management believes that these presentations may assist investors with understanding and evaluating our initiatives to drive improved financial performance. Management believes, specifically, that the removal of fair value changes of our net MSR exposure due to changes in market interest rates and assumptions provides a useful, supplemental financial measure as it enables an assessment of our ability to generate earnings regardless of market conditions and the trends in our underlying businesses by removing the impact of fair value changes due to market interest rates and assumptions, which can vary significantly between periods. However, these measures should not be analyzed in isolation or as a substitute to analysis of our GAAP expenses and pre-tax income (loss) nor a substitute for cash flows from operations. There are certain limitations to the analytical usefulness of the adjustments we make to GAAP expenses and pre-tax income (loss) and, accordingly, we use these adjustments only for purposes of supplemental analysis. Non-GAAP financial measures should be viewed in addition to, and not as an alternative for, Ocwen's reported results under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States. Other companies may use non-GAAP financial measures with the same or similar titles that are calculated differently to our non-GAAP financial measures. As a result, comparability may be limited. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on analysis of the adjustments we make to GAAP expenses and pre-tax income (loss).

Beginning with the three months ended June 30, 2022, without changing the categories or measurement of items included in our Notables, we clarified the definition of certain Notables and combined or separately itemized certain line items in the tables below in order to be more descriptive regarding the types and measurement of our Notables, because management believed doing so would further supplement investors' means of evaluating our results. The presentation of past periods has been conformed to the current presentation.

Beginning with the three months ended March 31, 2023, for purposes of calculating Income Statement Notables and Adjusted Pre-Tax Income, we changed the methodology used to calculate MSR Valuation Adjustments due to rates and assumption changes to use a runoff calculation that reflects the actual runoff of the fair value of the MSR instead of the realization of expected cash flows (the prior methodology). We made this change because reporting on the actual runoff of the MSR fair value provides an additional supplemental piece of information for investors to assess this fair value runoff in addition to realization of expected cash flows (which are still provided in the financial statements), and this supplemental piece of information mirrors the way that management assesses the performance of our Servicing segment and the owned MSR portfolio.

Expense Notables

In the table titled "Expense Overview", we adjust GAAP operating expenses for the following factors: compensation and benefit expenses related to severance, retention and other actions associated with cost and productivity improvement efforts; significant legal and regulatory settlement expense items<sup>(a)</sup>; and certain other significant activities including, but not limited to, insurance related expense and settlement recoveries, compensation or incentive compensation expense or reversals attributable to stock price changes, and other expenses associated with significant transactions that are not attributable to or indicative of our ongoing operations, in order to offer additional visibility on underlying results and trends and provide investors with a supplemental means of evaluating our expenses, as evaluated by management.

(a) Including however not limited to CFPB and certain legacy litigation related legal expenses and state regulatory action related legal expenses.
